Warner Oland Is Dead

Career Ends Workers In Fields Strike

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — Johann Warner Oland, the Charlie Chan who escaped a thousand terrible deaths on the screen, died of bronchial pneumonia today in his native Sweden.

News that the 58-year-old and portly stage and screen star died came from the home of his estranged wife, the former Edith Shearn of the stage, who was preparing for a hurried trip to his bedside.

The end came at 2:30 p.m. (5 a.m. Pacific standard time), at the home of Eric Stocklaes, Scandinavian artist and friend of the actor in Tyreso, near Stockholm.

WIFE OVERCOME

Mrs. Oland was so overcome by the news that she cancelled reservations on airplanes and steamers, made five days ago when she first learned of her husband's illness. She received word only yesterday that his condition was critical. Heart complications contributed to the death.

Harrison Ryon, the widow's attorney, said Oland will be buried in the little Swedish town of Umeo, his birthplace, as was his request.

MYSTERIOUS TRIP

Oland's departure to Sweden more than a month ago was almost as mysterious as were the movements of author Earl Derr Biggers' famous detective that he portrayed.

He had reached a separate maintenance agreement with his wife after her suit filed a year ago, and patched up differences with his Hollywood studio, which temporarily suspended him after an unannounced departure from the set.

Mrs. Oland charged in her suit that the actor "so disregarded his duties as a husband that he caused her much mental anguish." She declared excess drinking was the cause of their trouble. As Charlie Chan, she said, he earned $90,000 in 1936.

CONSIDERED CHINESE

Before Oland quietly sailed from Los Angeles harbor on a Swedish freighter, he had agreed to do three more Charlie Chan pictures on his return this fall.

So convincing were his roles as a Chinese that Oland was mistaken by Chinese for a Chinese on a vacation trip in the Orient.

"Everywhere I went," he said, "the natives addressed me in Chinese. I was introduced always as Mr. Chan." It was accepted as a Chinese."

Oland came to America in 1893 with his father, Jonas Oland, a half Russian, and his brother, Arvid. They settled on a windswept farm in Connecticut but before many years he was in Boston, working in a machine shop to earn $6 a week while he took voice lessons.

FAILS AS PRODUCER

In his first appearance there he played one of the gay gypsies in a Sarah Bernhardt production.

Then he understudied Edward J. Morgan, creator of the role of the "Christian." Then he went on the road playing in another of Hall Caine's productions, "The Eternal City," with Viola Allen.

Oland saved his money and after his marriage in 1900 to his widow, the former Edith Shearn of the stage, produced and played in Ibsen's "Peer Gynt." As a producer Oland made and lost a small fortune.

In 1920 he made his motion picture debut, getting $25 a day to play John Bunyan in "Pilgrim's Progress." That was produced at Fort Lee, N. J., and Oland liked to recall that he almost was drowned in the pool of despond, a mud hole.

30 IN EAST DIE OF HEAT

By the Associated Press

Steaming, muggy weather spread over the eastern two-thirds of the nation today.

The end of the week saw the death toll from the heat, humidity and torrential rains raised to at least 30.

Upstate New York counted 20 dead in the last four days. Eight drowned after heavy rains swept the Great Smoky mountain region of Tennessee. There were two deaths in Pennsylvania.

Chicago had a noon temperature of 86 with humidity at 55 per cent, considerably less than much of the sweltering nation.

Comparisons of temperatures with the humidity in many localities showed the degree of "mugginess" varying from 53 per cent to 81 per cent.

FLOOD TAKES LIVES OF 8

SEVIERVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Eight persons were dead today in the wake of torrential rains in this threshold of the great Smoky mountains national park.

Two families met death as the frame home of Mr. and Mrs. Alford Ball was swept away yesterday by a swollen mountain stream.

Besides Mr. and Mrs. Ball and their four children, the other victims were reported as Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Gillen, neighbors who had passed the night in the Ball home.

CIO Slaps Back At Gov. Merriam

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "The highest compliment that can be paid a labor organization," said Louis Goldblatt, northern California CIO director, is Governor Merriam's disapproval.

In attacking the CIO Thursday night as retarding industrial growth, the governor said "I have sympathy for the CIO."

"His attempt to make the CIO a scapegoat to cover his own political bankruptcy won't work."

W. C. T. U. Heads Give Repeal '10 Years at the Most'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Leaders of the Woman's Christian Temperance union today gave their "10 years at the most" for survival.

Meeting of the group's 64th annual national convention here, they also mapped a 12-point program for total abstinence.

"Repeal will last 10 years at the most—maybe only five years," said Mrs. Ida B. Wise Smith, national president. "Of course, I had the power Charley would be doing the 'Big Apple' in about two days."

If Dollar Day had been set for Wednesday I could have participated. The "ghost" with which I have an acquaintance appears

FEW JOBS AVAILABLE

"If the price of tomatoes was $16 a ton, we could offer you more money. As it is, it is a toss up with the growers as to whether they permit the tomatoes to rot on the ground or pitch them, paying the laborers at the scale which the growers can meet."

Graham said the only offer they can give the workers at this time is to invite those who are willing to work, to do so for 25 cents an hour, a limited number of jobs are available.

Lucio presented a petition before the group which was sent to the growers several weeks ago which explained that at 30 cents an hour the workers in the fields are unable to obtain a living wage. The petition urged the farmers to raise the pay scale to 35 cents.

Both Graham and Lucio urged the Mexicans present to encourage their out-of-state friends to remain at their homes, rather than to come to California, when the question of migratory labor arose this morning.

Movie Comedian Sued for Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Jack Oakie, the wise-cracking, swashbuckling comedian, was sued for divorce today in a complaint filed by Venita Varden Oakie.

CALLANDER, Ont. (Canadian Press) — The Dionne quintuplets were not feeling so well today.

F. K. Munro, the quintuplets' business manager said "they are suffering from upset stomachs."

The beatification ceremony has been set tentatively for Nov. 13. A decree permitting beatification of Mother Cabrini, approved July 19 by the congregation of rites, decided two recoveries from illness attributed to her intervention were authentic miracles.

These incidents were the recovery of Sister Delfina Graziali at Seattle in 1925 and the preservation of the life and eyesight of

Peter Smith, 18 years ago in New York. Both occurred after Mother

Cabrini's death.

Mother Cabrini first visited the United States in 1894. She died in Chicago in 1917 and was buried

WATER REPLACES SNOW

Otto Lang, widely known as ski performer and coach, takes to the water, in place of snow, at Coronado, Cal. Here he executes "dry landing" on skis. Letting go of a tow-rope, he coasts into the dock without getting wet.

Accurate judgment of speed is necessary. If he goes too fast, he crashes; if too slow, he gets a ducking.

Jap-Russ Fighting Resumed

KOGI, Korea, Aug. 6, (AP) — Reliable eyewitnesses said today 24 Soviet Russian planes raided Korean territory at 2:30 p.m. and bombed the Tumen-Rashin railway 15 miles northwest of Yuki.

The Rashin railway is a vital line which parallels the Korean border and connects the seaport of Kirin and Hsingking, Manchukou.

It was the first time Soviet planes made so intensive a raid upon Korean territory, across the disputed finger of territory from Siberia which has been the source of repeated incidents since July 11.

"GRAVE TURN"

Communication on the railway was reported partly interrupted.

The situation was believed to have taken a grave turn, as the Japanese northern Korea army communiqué declared Japanese retaliation was only a question of time as a result of this noon's bombing.

No Japanese planes rose to meet the Soviet attack on the railway, though this correspondent saw 20 planes engaged in a dog fight in the direction of Changkufeng.

HIGHWAY BOMBED

Intensive ground fire, however, downed one Soviet plane, and one pilot was seen bailing out over Korean territory.

The planes also bombed the highway. Great holes caused by the explosions were seen by eyewitnesses.

At 5 p.m., a Japanese communiqué said, 14 Soviet bombers crossed the Tumen river and bombed various Korean villages.

Japanese claimed to have shot down two of them, but said they believed their own losses were slight.

JAPANESE AROUSED

Japanese army officers were highly indignant at "this unwarranted manifestation of the Soviet's challenging attitude" and the bombing of "peaceful Korean villages."

They declared Soviet planes had made in all 77 appearances over Korea.

53 Japanese Planes Raid Chinese Provisional Capital

WARSHIPS 110 MILES FROM HANKOW NOW

LONDON. (AP)—Fifty-three Japanese planes raided Hankow, Chinese provisional capital, at noon today, a Reuters dispatch said, bombed the airdrome and shook the city with terrific explosions.

SHANGHAI. (AP)—Japanese warships fought their way up the Yangtze river today to within 110 miles of Hankow, China's provisional capital.

They were reported shelling Chinese positions on both banks near Lungping, ten miles downstream from the Boom at Wusueh, while Chinese shore batteries replied vigorously.

The Chinese expected the bombardment to be followed by mass air attacks as a prelude to an attempted landing for an attack on Kwangtsi, 25 miles north of Wusueh. Such a move would aid the advance of Japanese troops, which Chinese said were halted by the Yangtze flood.

Chinese advised said the floods, caused by broken dikes above Kiukiang, were growing worse, with dike breaches widening and the river inundating huge areas on both banks.

While the floods were halting the Japanese offensive, these advised said, they also were inflicting "unprecedented suffering" on the Chinese populace, as did floods along the Yellow river in June.

Japanese naval air squadrons attacked the entire 100-mile length of the Kiukiang-Nanchang railway and bombarded Nanchang, Chinese air base.

A Japanese naval spokesman said bombs had set munitions warehouses afire at Nanchang.

Foreigners at Nanchang reported Chinese troops were systematically tearing up the railway south of Yungtsi, 16 miles from Kiukiang, while a steady stream of refugees poured into Nanchang.

WARREN MARR TRIAL IS SET FOR AUG. 15

Warren Marr, long-hunted confidence man, will go to trial in superior court a week from Monday on 10 felony charges.

Last of the series of charges was set for trial yesterday afternoon in superior court, when Marr pleaded not guilty to an escape count. He is accused of escaping from a bailiff Oct. 21, 1936, while they were in Pasadena after attempting to raise money to reimburse elderly Orange county persons. Marr is accused of bilking out of nearly $10,000 in securities.

The other nine counts include charges of violation of the state corporate securities act and charges of grand theft in connection with bogus stock deals here in 1934 and 1935. He was indicted by the county grand jury, extradited from Michigan, escaped, and finally was returned here last month after officials discovered him serving a sentence for fraud in Indiana. His case will be heard by a jury in Superior Judge G. K. Scovell's court with Asst. Dist. Atty. Preston Turner prosecuting and Z. B. West, Santa Ana attorney, appearing for Marr.

Life In a Tent

They're packed in like sardines, and they love it. They love it so much, in fact, that they keep coming back, year after year, to the Newport Beach tent city, where life is lived with a Coney Island accent. *

Except for an aisle down the middle, practically every square foot ground in the city is covered by tents—and it's the greatest hodge-podge of tents you'll find in Orange county. There are big, expensive ones, and there are little pup tents. There are canvas and burlap ones, and mixtures. And there are some tents that aren't tents at all, just pieces of blanket draped over a wood frame. *

It's a hodge-podge of people, too, and that's what most of them seem to like about it. They just take down their hair and have fun. Most in evidence (maybe because they're bigger, probably because they're more numerous) are firemen and policemen: most of the firemen seem to be from Pasadena. But there are doctors and lawyers, merchants and school teachers. *

Most distinguished thing about the camp personnel is the prevalence of youngsters: there seem to be four or five of them to every tent. As a matter of fact, the tent city is pretty much a family vacationland, much more fun as a cheap vacation-spot for large families than as a quiet retreat for childless couples. *

Typical tent city family is that of one particular Pasadena fireman. His four children (one of them married and with a young son of her own) are spending the summer in camp, and the fireman, a widower, just comes down on his day off. *

The fireman and his family have been coming to Newport for the past five years. They pitch camp early in summer, stay until fall. They have an inside spot (away from the beach) and pay $4 a week for it; their food costs $5 per week per person. There isn't much else for them to spend money on. *

For amusement, the kids go swimming and frolic with the other kids in camp. The women gossip and play bridge; the men fish, gossip and play pinocchio, maybe a little poker. Noise must cease (camp rule) at 10:30 past night, 11 o'clock Saturday nights, and if the campers still want excitement, they can go up to Balboa a mile and a half away. *

About half the campers stay most of the summer; majority of others are in camp one or two weeks. Once a new party lands in camp, it takes only four or five hours for him to get nicely acquainted with every one in his immediate vicinity, and the all summer crowd gets to know practically everyone there (close to 1000). *

Community life gets ample opportunity to flourish in the tent city. Wiener bakes on the beach at night are frequent occurrences, and youngsters from every part of the camp soon start banding together with others of their own age. *

Old-timers' greatest clamor is for an entertainment center and playground so the kids will have other things to do besides swimming and fishing. Most common meeting grounds for the old folks now are the community cookhouses. *

The two-week campers eat hazardly, but the all-summer bunch "eats better" than at home, and only way the lady of the family gets a vacation is to turn the summer's cooking assignment over to her husband—which many of them do. *

Regulations say there can be only one family to a camp spot (18 by 25 feet), but either the rules are consistently broken or there are some awfully big families. Because on some of the lots four or five tents are pitched together. *

Most typical example of that is a suite of tents labeled "Tent Pullman." Consists of seven tent rooms, including three regular tents, two burlap arrangements, two canvas sets draped over frames and an auto trailer. The whole thing is joined by a corridor, and in a way it actually resembles a Pullman. *

Tent city inhabitants will tell you it's the "aristocrats" who hang names on the front of their tents. Samples: "The Beach Nuts," "Burton Manor." Most desired area is that along the beach, and camp-spots there cost $6 a week; the trailer area, provided with lights, is $5 a week, and the inside row of camp draws $4 rent. *

Majority of the tent city's customers are from Glendale, Riverside, Los Angeles, Pasadena and way points. Comparatively few Orange county folks stay there, although there are a number of Santa Anas in camp; these mostly are the two-weekers, rather than the all-summer campers. *

The camp's been going as a musical venture, steadily drawing bigger crowds, for 20 years. Cus-todian is William Ulrich, who turned away 8000 cars last year, will turn away even more this year, since the camp's 197 tent

SCREEN ATTRACTIONS AT SANTA ANA THEATERS

'PROF. BEWARE' AT WEST COAST

Elliot Nugent, who established himself as an ace director with his "College Scandal" and "Wives Never Know," was the guiding genius behind Harold Lloyd's latest laugh riot, "Professor Beware," now showing at the West Coast theater with "I'll Give a Million" starring Warner Baxter.

For "Professor Beware" Lloyd's first picture in over a year and a half, Nugent and the comedian himself scouted the Hollywood field for a new leading lady. They came across blonde Phyllis Welch, only two weeks in Hollywood after being imported from the Broadway stage.

Also appearing in the film is Lionel Stander, who furnishes his frog-voiced, peculiar facial mannerism comedy in the part of a hobo whom Lloyd meets on his cross-country jaunt that is the chief theme of the picture. He and Raymond Walburn, his partner, annex Lloyd when they meet him on an eastward bound freight train, and stick to him close.

"Professor Beware" is the story of a down-and-out archaeologist, Lloyd, in search of a job after he has lost his position in a Los Angeles museum. Broke, he starts his cross-country trip to New York, alternately pursuing and then being pursued by Miss Welch through a myriad of typically Lloydian adventures.

"I'll Give a Million" is a new comedy-drama with Warner Baxter and Marjorie Weaver in leading roles. Also in the featured cast are Peter Lorre, Jean Harlow, John Carradine, J. Edward Bromberg, Lynn Bari and Fritz Feld. It is the story of a millionaire, seated with his fawning friends, who disappears from his yacht, becomes a tramp and finds romance in a traveling circus. A Porky cartoon and World News complete the program.

CITY BUDGET UP AUG. 15

First official reading of Santa Ana's city budget for 1938-39 has been definitely set for the Aug. 15 council meeting, Mayor Fred Rowland revealed today.

Departmental requests have been virtually coordinated by city councilmen, and final budget details have been assigned to City Auditor Lloyd Banks.

Banks will have all figures available by next week, when City Attorney L. W. Blodget will draft the budget into the form of an ordinance, which will have its first reading Aug. 15, with second reading and final adoption tentatively set for an adjourned meeting Aug. 29, it was understood.

Robert Taylor Film to Return

"The Crowd Roars," Robert Taylor's latest stellar triumph, will be seen at the West Coast theater starting Aug. 17, it was announced today.

TOWNSEND NEWS, VIEWS

By WALTER R. ROBB

(This column deals with Townsend news and views. Any opinions which are expressed herein are not necessarily those of The Journal.)

William K. Hutchinson, Washington correspondent for the International News service in the Tulsa, Oklahoma, West Side Journal recently declared that Senator Elmer Thomas is under obligation to both Dr. Francis E. Townsend and President Franklin D. Roosevelt for his victory over Gomez Smith in the recent primary contest for the Democratic party nomination for his re-election as a United States senator from Oklahoma.

The news report goes on to say that both President Roosevelt and Dr. Townsend came to Oklahoma and said kind words for Senator Thomas previous to the primary election. The report says: "The President wanted him re-elected to the U. S. Senate because he is one of the outstanding statesmen in the senate, a progressive who cooperates with the administration program."

The news statement also says: "Dr. Francis E. Townsend, president of the Townsend National Recovery plan, wants Elmer Thomas re-elected because he gave his qualified endorsement of the Townsend Plan." H. R. 4199, and promises to do all he can to effect its enactment into law when the bill reaches the senate, and he was the only candidate for the U. S. senate who did endorse the Townsend Plan in its entirety, although Gomez Smith and E. W. Marland claimed they were for the General Welfare act, but with amendments."

Mrs. Jennie W. Bloomquist, secretary of the Los Alamitos adult Townsend Club No. 1 and Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Robb of the same club were callers on business Thursday morning in Santa Ana. Mr. and Mrs. Robb have recently returned from a several weeks' visit with relatives in Northern California and in Oregon. Mrs. Bloomquist reports that her club has changed its meeting nights to the second and fourth Friday nights of each calendar month.

The writer wishes to apologize to the Huntington Beach Club No. 1 for having failed to give more adequate publicity to the appearance last evening of the Dazzle boys of Santa Monica in Memorial hall. In the press of other obligations it slipped the writer's mind temporarily and as result he failed to get the notice in the Thursday paper as he intended doing.

The Johnson campaign committee composed of both Townsendites and Republicans from the three counties of the 19th district met Wednesday evening in Riverside to discuss and plan relative to the carrying on of the campaign for Mayor C. T. Johnson's election to the office of congressman. Fifteen people were present and plans laid for an intensified campaign.

SEN. WESTOVER TALKS TO NEW S. A. COUNCIL

MASONS HEAR HISTORY TOLD BY WHITSELL

Thirty Santa Ana business men heard an explanation of the mechanics of state legislation by Senator Harry Westover last night as the new Santa Ana Affairs council met in the Y. M. C. A. building.

Westover's talk — dealing with organization of the two branches of the legislature, and how bills are presented, furthered, aided, delayed or amended through the various committee channels — highlighted the first of a series of sessions to be devoted to study of initiative and referendum measures on the November election ballot.

The council's next meeting will be held Aug. 19, when Wilfred Taylor will discuss the "Oil Pool Initiative Bills," President R. B. Newcom announced.

"A great deal of misunderstanding as to the 'why' of certain legislative action can be clarified," Westover said, "if one but understands the human factors involved — the lobbying, and the various group pressures on the individual legislators."

Westover touched on workings in Sacramento of the "legislative council," a legal department set up to give legal advice to various legislators, which he said, does not always agree with the attorney general on constitutionality of proposed bills.

Charles Wallenburg of Los Angeles, past grand master, gave a brief talk on the Masonic orphans' home at Covina.

Santa Ana Lodge No. 241 was represented by lodges from other parts of the county at the banquet.

G. H. HOME ENTERED

Annual Party
Is Held At
Ritchey Home

Always anticipated as a highlight of the year for pioneer members of Sedgwick Woman's Relief corps of the Grand Army of the Republic is the August meeting which is held annually at the beautiful ranch home of Mrs. Martha Ritchey on McFadden street.

Yesterday the old friends met at usual under the giant spreading mulberry tree that was planted nearly a century ago by the hostess's grandfather, and now casts its shadows over a great part of the colorful garden.

A covered dish luncheon was enjoyed with Mrs. Eunice Ritchey Fox assisting her mother, and in turn being assisted by Mrs. Dora Pease. Mrs. Dorothy Pease Andrews and Mrs. Audrey Teel Norton.

The afternoon was spent in enjoyment of a program presented by the members. Mrs. Emma Palmer Mosbaugh, president, presented a timely paper entitled, "Women in Politics" and this was followed by brief readings and talks, mostly of friendship, by the members.

The club will meet in September at the Harry Coleman home, 1235 South Ross street, where Mrs. Daisy May Ross and her daughter, Mrs. Coleman, will be hostesses.

Yesterday's ranks were lessened by the absence of Mrs. Elizabeth McLeod, Mrs. Abbie Vandermast, Mrs. Anna Pendleton, Mrs. Viola Flips and Mrs. Annie Arnold, who were all kept at home by illness, and to whom the group sent greetings.

Guests at the enjoyable affair were Mrs. Elizabeth Birkhead, Mrs. Eliza Olson and Mrs. Lulu Hall, while members present were Mrs. Emma Palmer Mosbaugh, Mrs. Retta Campbell, Mrs. Fanny Cunningham, Mrs. Margaret Culver, Mrs. Daisy May Ross, Mrs. Hannah Almira Huntington, Mrs. Maretta Phillo, Mrs. Alice Khrly, Mrs. Rosina Carolina Diers, Mrs. Kats Johnson, Mrs. Helen Kellogg Aubin, and Mrs. Ritchey.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles O. Norton of 621 East Myrtle street have returned to their home after a four weeks' northern trip which took them first to Bryce, Zion and Yellowstone parks.

They, accompanied by Mrs. Norton's sister, Mrs. George Phillips of Sacramento, proceeded on to Glacier park, Lake Louise, and Banff in Canada, then doubled back to Portland, Crater lake and home via the redwoods.

REBEKAHS MEET

Veteran Rebekahs held their August meeting in Birch Park yesterday beginning at noon with a bountiful picnic dinner which was climaxized by an ice cream feast. Mrs. Bessie Waite, president, was given an attractive set of pottery salt and pepper shakers. Installation of officers has been planned for the next meeting which will be held next month. Forty-three members were present and a number were accompanied by their husbands who also enjoyed the day.

JENNIE LAKE
TRIP ENJOYED

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Tubbs have returned from a three weeks' trip to the Jackson Hole country. They were accompanied as far as Jennie Lake by a second car in which drove Mrs. Emma McCollough, her brother, John Jacobs, Jr., and Mrs. Susan Rutherford of Balboa.

The Otto Jacobs' young son was also in the party, and stayed on at the lake as did the Tubbses, while the others went on to Yellowstone park. They report fine fishing and a wonderful country around Jennie lake.

The Future Mrs. Schilling

Pierce, last Sunday announced her betrothal to Jack Schilling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Schilling, at a formal tea in her parents' home. BRIDE-ELECT

Mrs. Harry Huffman hosted an informal luncheon and miscellaneous shower this afternoon in her Balboa beach cottage, complimenting Miss Jane Wight who will marry Mrs. Huffman's nephew, Robert Fennier McFarren, on Aug. 14th at the First Christian church in Santa Ana.

Gathered to fetes the pretty bride-elect, for whom several informal things have been planned during the week preceding her wedding, were Miss Cleon Pike, Miss Ruth Curren, Miss Henrietta Rurup, Miss Agnes Allen and Miss Marguerite Denni of Anaheim, Miss Barbara Knuth, Miss Margaret Davies, Mrs. John Nielsen and Mrs. Emma Purvis.

Launching what promises to be a continuation of the gay round of informal affairs that filled the Irving blue cottage while the Paul Dinsmores occupied it during July.

Mrs. I. F. Landis, who with Lieut. Com. Landis, is there for August, gave a pleasant little luncheon for eight this week.

Her guests included Mrs. Edward Hall, Mrs. B. J. MacMullen, Mrs. H. B. Van Dein, Mrs. John T. Dunning, Mrs. Hugh J. Lowe, and Mrs. J. K. Hermon.

Several other equally informal affairs will fill the ensuing weeks, highlighted by formal dinners during the Tournament of Lights week.

Mrs. Sprague Bids One Hundred
Guests To Afternoon Tea

The beautiful colonial home of Mr. and Mrs. Edgerton B. Sprague at 1920 Victoria Drive, with its spacious rooms and lovely gardens, was eminently fitted for the tea hosted yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Sprague in order to present her son's wife, Mrs. Weston F. Sprague, to more than one hundred old friends of the family. The honoree was married to the Spragues' youngest son last fall, immediately afterward accompanying him to Boston for advanced university work during the past year. They will now make their home permanently on the west coast, and have been visiting the E. B. Spragues while making arrangements to be settled in Los Angeles.

In the receiving line yesterday was Mrs. Sprague in a softly becoming frock of periwinkle blue chiffon with matching lace jacket and a corsage of shell pine tuberous begonias. Her pretty blonde daughter-in-law was in a powder blue crepe formal gown with gold girdle and flame-hued begonias in her hair. With them was Mrs. Weston Sprague's mother, Mrs. A. J. Lash, attired in smart navy blue marquise over taffeta with a white embroidered organdy yoke and corsage of gardenias.

Guests were greeted at the door by Miss Virginia Finley, and were ushered into the reception room to be greeted in turn by Mrs. Joseph H. Metzgar, Mrs. W. Harold Finley, Mrs. Charles Dwytt, Mrs. A. H. Lyon, and Mrs. C. F. Skirvin, who were invited to assist in hostess duties by Mrs. Sprague.

This room was lovely with a great basket of yellow dahlias sent by Mrs. Lyon, and matching pompons sent by Mrs. Terry Stevenson. Other beautiful dahlias about the room were sent by Mrs. Emmett Raitt from her husband's famous garden. Mrs. John Tessmann sent a basket of asters and dahlias although unable to be present.

In the long diningroom was a beautiful lace-covered table centered by a crystal bowl filled with an arrangement of radience roses, blue delphinium, pale yellow scabiosas, and fluffy white stock.

Alternating in presiding over the tea urns were Miss Lulu Finley in flowered chiffon, Miss Lavinia Scott, in white chiffon and red velvet jacket, Mrs. Alex Brownridge in mahogany lace, and Mrs. W. B. Williams in black net over a flowered taffeta. Assistants in the diningroom were Mrs. E. B. Sprague's sister, Miss Bernice McBride, and her cousins, Mrs. Donald Swarthout (Gail Finley) and Mrs. Leland Finley.

Among other striking flower arrangements was a very long low basket brimming with shaded tones of zinnias adorning the buffet, while on a small table was an exquisitely bowl of gardenias, sent by Mrs. F. E. Coulter.

Elk's vs. Eltiste.

Eltiste's International Trucks club, which started the Santa Ana City League season two months ago from scratch—in fact they were organized the day before the loop schedule opened—climaxed a sensational rise to prominence by capturing the second-half championship last night, and with it the right to engage the Elks in a four-out-of-seven playoff series.

While Eltiste's made sure of the second-half conquest of City league clubs, the Elks helped Eltiste's out by dropping a 6 to 5 encounter with M. E. South's rejuvenated Mustangs in the curtain-raiser.

Jack Dempsey, the old mauler himself, who referred the title bout, told newshawks after Al Hostak's first-round knockout of Freddie Steele, that he believes Hostak is one of the greatest middleweights of all time. Dempsey predicts the new champion will knock out Fred Apostoli when—and if—they meet.

Concerning Hostak, Dempsey says, "The kid's a terrific hitter . . . rough and ready . . . swings every second . . . so fast you can't see them . . . He's all over, likes thick neck and short legs . . . something like Armstrong, only Hostak's punches have more snap."

Unless Jimmy Ripple snaps out of his batting slump pretty quick, he'll see Hank Lieber playing right for the Jints.

Babe Ruth is the kids' No. 1 baseball man except in Woodside, L. I. . . out there is head man is Bobby Reis of the Boston Bees . . . every time the Boston comes to town, Bobby goes out to visit his brother Vinny in Woodside and gets out on the field and plays ball with the youngsters, which is one fine way to make baseball fans of the future.

NEW YORK. (P)—If youse guys want to climb aboard Armstrong at 13 or 12 to 5, you're better hurry 'cause those odds are going to shorten.

MARKETS—CITRUS
New York Stocks

By VICTOR EUBANK
NEW YORK (AP)—Stocks accompanied the temperature on another upward climb in today's market.

With motors, steels, rubbers, rails and wire assortments of specialties, the market was up 2 points at the best, with new highs for the year or longer plentiful.

While the ticket tape managed to keep the market moving in a brief session, the advance was the fastest for a Saturday since July 2. Transfers were in the neighborhood of the 300,000-share mark.

Profit taking intervened, however, and the market was more or less stagnant before the close. The result was that top gains were shaded in many cases.

Both trails along with stock market leaders were the most popular.

Commodities again refused to get aboard the recovery van. Grain futures were hesitant throughout.

The only exception of note was a rise in cotton, which was up 10 cents.

Resumption of gold hoarding abroad resulted in the London price of the yellow metal moving up to a new high for the month.

The Migrant Flood Ebbs

Kern county's rebellion against migrants from the "dust bowl" has got well underway just when the worst is over, if latest reports from California's border checking stations and the figures of farm security administration can be relied upon.

"The tide has turned," announces a summary of latest information, published in Los Angeles. "California has routed the menace of the influx of migratory indigents. The trek now faces east. More are leaving the state than entering it."

And in support are quoted state quarantine officers at Yermo, near Daggett, Blythe, Fort Yuma, and Vidal on the Arizona border. "Okies" (Oklahomans) and "Arkies" (Arkansans) now entering California are few and far between," says Robert M. Campbell at Blythe. "There has been a continued procession going east."

Testimony to the same effect is given by W. V. Allen, supervisor of the farm placement service of the United States employment office at Los Angeles, who thinks the movement into the state has been exaggerated, with no account taken of those who leave. And Jonathan Garst, coast director for farm security administration, points out that the number of migrants receiving federal grants in Kern county has diminished from 3000 to less than 500.

Arrivals began to fall off just when FSA began its system of small cash grants, and for the same reason, says Mr. Garst. This reason was the distress of the dust-bowlers already here and its cause—the lack of employment. And Mr. Garst sees this as conclusive evidence that not relief but the hope of work is what attracted them here.

Other factors are at work. FSA has identified its propaganda in the Middle West against California migration, giving this state its first dose of organized "knocking" in the process—a "knocking" decidedly welcomed here by our most enthusiastic boosters. Also it has extended its grants and loans to distressed farmers and farm workers in their home states. And weather and crop conditions are better there.

No War Bargaining!

There is an increasing prospect that the United States may finally be repaid the billions it loaned France and England during the World war days. Much talk on the part of the American emissaries to those nations appears to be getting results. Treasury Secretary Morgenthau is even now in France trying to bring loose ends together and consummate a plan of repayment.

The debt of Britain—without accumulated interest, which would at least double it—is $5,185,730,763; that of France, $4,101,220,184.

In 1931 those two nations spent $1,600,000,000 on armaments. Nobody knows exactly what they spent for armaments last year, or are spending this year. It is safe to say, however, that the sum would make the 1931 figure look like pin money.

If the heads of the two European democracies regard payment of the United States loans as anything like a guarantee that this nation will again rush to their aid in Europe's endless quarrels, such repayment—without interest—will doubtless be a good investment, considered merely as a war move.

If America's ministers and treasury and state department representatives permit any such concept to live in the minds of the French or British statesmen, or people, they will be criminally untrue to the trust that has been imposed in them.

"Treat your trees like children," advises a tree doctor. Say, which end of a tree does a fellow turn up to spank?

To the Lawyers

Lawyers as a group take some serious and almost constant lambasting, due to the unprincipled actions of a very small minority of their number, who violate their oaths as deputies of justice. The number of black sheep in the profession of law is no greater, probably, than in other professions and businesses, but because the trust imposed in legal advisers is greater, a betrayal seems greater.

The new president of the American Bar association, Frank J. Hogan of Washington, D. C., gives all members of his profession a charter of public service when he says:

"It seems to me that it is important that the American Bar association shall take immediate and practical steps to assure the American citizen, be he poor or rich, that if rights and immunities vouchsafed him by the Bill of Rights are anywhere denied him or threatened with denial, impartial and speedy investigation will be made, and, where the facts warrant it, there will be certainty of assistance of competent lawyers for defense and protection in cases which otherwise might be undefended."

This newspaper believes that if this one not too heavy task is accepted and faithfully performed by the lawyers of America (much as doctors accept the rare task of combatting epidemics or disasters) the good name of the legal profession will be much safer against the slings and jibes to which the errors of its weaker members subject it.

Twenty-Five Years Ago

AUG. 6, 1913

Expert handling of her car by Miss Ellis Smith of Tustin partially averted an accident with a motorcycle driven by C. F. Winklepleck of Orange last night at Bush and Third streets. The machines collided, but only personal injury was a sprained ankle suffered by Elmer Dickenson of Santa Ana, who was riding with Winklepleck.

Eight families in Bay City have petitioned the board of supervisors to reestablish a school district there. The district, suspended two years ago because there were not enough children to justify the expense, now has 20 children, the petition said.

An inquest was held in Fullerton this morning over the body of an unknown man who fell down a well at Olinda last night and was drowned. The man had been loafing about Anaheim for several days, and had walked east to the Rochester ranch at Olinda where he fell down the 60-foot shaft into six feet of water.

Recommendations of experts on safety measures in the repair of the grand opera house are being undertaken by Manager N. A. Ulm and Owner W. F. Lutz, following a heated dispute during which the city trustees condemned the building.

The Mailbag

Public opinion, or what somebody else's opinion is, is our ruler. If public opinion is active, the politicians and people sit up and take notice. There is a definite need for responsible and thinking on public matters. Honest, intelligent fair discussion of our problems is immensely useful. So that everybody may have his say and contribute to the formation of public opinion. The Journal invites letters to The Mailbag. Please limit communications to 350 words. The editor reserves the right to shorten all entries in excess of that length.

PRESIDENTIAL TENURE

To the Editor: Rarely does the prolonged exercise of power result in its voluntary surrender. Love of power grows on the meat that feeds it. A president occupying his position for a third term is inevitably, or some pretext or other, crave for a fourth . . . a fifth . . . and so on toward permanence. He will be less and less inclined to yield his authority except to violence. There have been few George Washingtons.

It is about time, in order to safeguard our democracy against the epidemic of dictatorships that is sweeping the world, that we restrict legally the presidential tenure to two terms of four years or to a single term of six years. Even if a dictator is the worst, his character will not for long stand the strain of occupying so lofty a pinnacle. He will be transformed into a benevolent despot, of which history provides many examples. Do not be intrigued by the radiant smile or the gracious manner . . . behind it may lurk danger to our liberty.

It must also be considered that reformers are usually poor administrators; we experience the results in the reckless mounting of the public debt, involving higher taxes; we see it in the growth of an arrogant bureaucracy and the increasing burdens upon business. With due regard to President Roosevelt's kindness of intention, he has been seeking power in many directions, albeit unconsciously, and the logical end will be permanent power—constituting a threat to the freedom for which the Founders of the Republic struggled and suffered.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON.—Sometimes it is quietest just before the storm, and this may be the situation in Europe today.

Diplomats always have figured that if they could get by the first two weeks of August they would be fairly safe as far as war is concerned for another year.

But now it begins to look as if the Nazis might not let the August deadline pass. All the confidential reports received here indicate that they are preparing for a real showdown.

Here are some of the secret developments:

Austrian and German business men have been unable to get freight cars in the area around the Czech border. All cars have been taken over by the military because of the heavy shipment of supplies.

Underground airfields are being built at terrific speed along the Czech border, especially on the Austrian side closest to Prague.

The Nazi secret council is reported to have picked the date of Aug. 13 for the putsch into Czechoslovakia.

Whether or not this latter report is accurate, obviously cannot be confirmed. But this much is definite. News of the date is believed by the British foreign office, and is one reason for Lord Runciman's visit to Prague and the sudden British desire to put the quietus on Czechoslovakia.

British diplomacy today, working on the theory of surrender, anything that belongs to somebody else—but don't risk a fight.

All this Nazi activity may not mean war. But it does mean that Hitler is determined to get what he wants in Czechoslovakia. He would rather get it without war, in fact he might run in the other direction if he knew in advance that war was certain.

But he has seen the British yield so many times, that he is gambling on their yielding again. Probably that is one reason why he has let the British know about his troops along the Czech border.

Another important factor which disturbs the British is the real topic of conversation between Lord Runciman and Captain Weidemann, Hitler's aide, just before King George and Queen Elizabeth went to Paris.

News reports didn't get in at the time, but what Weidemann proposed was that Germany give up completely her idea of colonies, and receive in turn a free hand to "colonize" Central Europe—Czechoslovakia, Rumania, Yugoslavia, Hungary and the Ukraine.

If there is a cross wind, as there usually will be, the pilot turns his plane until the light spot coincides with his objective as seen through the glass plate on the ground below. The change in direction which he must produce in his plane to achieve this coincidence corrects his dive for the amount of cross wind.

Lord Halifax made no commitments. But the Weidemann message was discussed very seriously in Paris.

All of these developments mean that you may want to hold your hat before the next two weeks move passed in Europe.

Note:—Japanese belligerency against Russia may be an important tip regarding war or probability. Pressed as she is by her war with China, Japan would not risk a major confrontation with Russia unless she had some word from Germany, her ally, that the Soviet might soon be kept busy on another front.

WASHINGTON.—Vertical dive bombing airplanes—the deadly method recently come into aerial warfare—is to be made even more deadly.

German motorized transport, including heavy artillery, tanks, and anti-aircraft batteries, has been concentrated in Austria near the Czech border.

GET TOGETHER

William Lamb Melbourne, who died in 1848, was one of England's outstanding statesmen, and at one time was prime minister. Once, after a long discussion, at which it was decided to embark upon a reform of the corn laws, the members were making their way to Downing street, when Lord Melbourne followed them to the head of the stairs and shouted: "Stop! Stop! Tell me what it is agreed we should do, and when it is agreed we should do, then let us have a general discussion."
